

Customer Dashboard Privacy Policy

Effective Date: [Insert date]

Last Updated: [Insert date]

This Customer Dashboard Privacy Policy explains how Quickwrks (“Quickwrks,” “we,” “us,” or “our”) collects, uses, stores, and protects personal data when a customer accesses or uses the Quickwrks customer dashboard (“Dashboard”).

This Policy should be read together with the Quickwrks Privacy Policy, Terms of Use, and the separate customer service agreement.

1. Dashboard access

Quickwrks may provide an approved customer with access to a private Dashboard for managing and monitoring the customer’s service relationship.

Quickwrks may provide the customer with:

- A username.
- A password or other access credentials.
- Dashboard access instructions.
- Service-related documents or communications.

Dashboard access is provided only to the customer or an authorised representative of the customer. The customer may change the password but only once.

2. Information collected through the Dashboard

Quickwrks may collect and process the following information through the Dashboard:

- Customer name.
- Business name.
- Phone number.
- Email address.

- Business city and state.
- Service-request details.
- Service scope and deliverables.
- Quotations, invoices, and payment status.
- Communications between the customer and Quickwrks.
- Documents uploaded or submitted by the customer.
- Dashboard activity and access records.
- IP address, browser type, device information, access time, and security logs.
- Any other information necessary to provide, administer, secure, or document the services.

Customers should upload only information that is relevant and necessary for the applicable service.

3. Purposes of processing

Quickwrks may process Dashboard information to:

- Create and administer the customer account.
- Provide access to the Dashboard.
- Manage the customer's service relationship.
- Display service status, documents, invoices, and payment information.
- Communicate with the customer.
- Process or record payments.
- Coordinate with the relevant Quickwrks subsidiary or service provider.
- Provide customer support.
- Verify identity and prevent unauthorised access.
- Monitor, maintain, and improve Dashboard security.
- Detect fraud, misuse, or security incidents.
- Maintain business, accounting, audit, and legal records.
- Comply with applicable law.
- Send marketing communications where legally permitted and appropriately authorised.

The Dashboard is intended for service administration and communication. Marketing consent should be obtained separately from consent required to provide Dashboard functionality.

4. Login credentials and account security

Customers are responsible for keeping their username, password, and other access credentials confidential.

Customers must not:

- Share credentials with unauthorised persons.
- Permit another person to use the Dashboard without permission.
- Store passwords insecurely.
- Attempt to bypass Dashboard security.
- Use another person's credentials.
- Delay reporting suspected unauthorised access.

The customer must notify Quickwrks promptly if credentials are lost, stolen, disclosed, or suspected to be compromised.

5. Lost or compromised credentials

If a customer loses their username or password, or if the Dashboard is compromised, Quickwrks may require identity or account verification before taking corrective action.

Quickwrks may replace, reset, suspend, or disable the affected credentials. Credential replacement, recovery assistance, or related administrative work may be chargeable where the applicable customer agreement or Quickwrks' communicated fee schedule permits such charges.

Quickwrks may be unable to recover an old password or restore a compromised Dashboard exactly as it previously existed. In such circumstances, Quickwrks may provide replacement credentials or create a replacement access arrangement after completing reasonable verification.

Quickwrks will not be responsible for loss caused by the customer's failure to protect credentials, unauthorised sharing, negligence, or delay in reporting a security issue.

6. Payments

The Dashboard may provide facilities for online payment, invoices, payment status, or payment records.

Payment details may be processed through a third-party payment gateway or financial service provider. Unless expressly stated otherwise, Quickwrks will not store complete payment-card details on its own systems.

The relevant payment provider may process payment information under its own privacy policy, security standards, and terms.

Quickwrks may retain transaction references, payment status, invoice details, and limited billing information for accounting, customer-service, security, legal, and dispute-resolution purposes.

7. Sharing with subsidiaries and service providers

Quickwrks may share Dashboard data with:

- The relevant Quickwrks subsidiary.
- Affiliates or service providers involved in delivering the contracted service.
- Payment processors.
- Hosting, cloud-storage, security, communication, or technical-support providers.
- Professional advisers, auditors, insurers, or legal authorities where necessary.
- Government or law-enforcement authorities where required by law.

Quickwrks will seek to limit disclosure to information reasonably necessary for the relevant purpose and will require appropriate confidentiality and security protections from service providers processing data on its behalf.

8. Customer-uploaded content

A customer must ensure that any document, message, image, data, or other content uploaded to the Dashboard:

- Is accurate to the best of the customer's knowledge.
- Is relevant to the service.
- Does not unlawfully contain another person's personal data.
- Does not infringe another person's intellectual-property or privacy rights.
- Does not contain malware or harmful code.
- May lawfully be shared with Quickwrks and the relevant service provider.

The customer grants Quickwrks permission to access, store, reproduce, transmit, and use uploaded content only as reasonably necessary to provide, administer, secure, and document the contracted service.

9. Retention

Quickwrks may retain Dashboard information for the duration of the customer relationship and for one month and the relevant processing or last customer interaction, subject to the applicable customer agreement and legal requirements.

Quickwrks may retain information longer where necessary to:

- Comply with applicable law.
- Maintain accounting, tax, or transaction records.
- Resolve disputes.

- Establish, exercise, or defend legal claims.
- Preserve security, audit, consent, or processing records.
- Complete an ongoing service or contractual obligation.

Quickwrks will take reasonable steps to delete, anonymise, or securely dispose of personal data when the applicable purpose and retention period have ended, unless continued retention is legally required. Processing logs and associated traffic data may be subject to separate minimum-retention requirements under applicable DPDP Rules. - -

10. Security

Quickwrks will use reasonable technical and organisational measures to protect Dashboard data, including access controls, credential management, monitoring, and security procedures appropriate to the nature of the information processed.

No online system can be guaranteed to be completely secure. Quickwrks cannot guarantee that the Dashboard will always be free from unauthorised access, technical failure, or interruption.

11. Dashboard communications

Quickwrks may use the customer's registered email address, phone number, Dashboard notifications, or other agreed communication channels to send:

- Account and login notices.
- Service updates.
- Requests for information.
- Payment reminders.
- Invoices and receipts.
- Security notifications.
- Contractual or legally required communications.

These operational communications may continue even if the customer opts out of marketing communications.

12. Marketing communications

Quickwrks may send marketing communications through email, telephone, text message, Dashboard notification, or other lawful communication channels only where permitted by applicable law and supported by the appropriate consent or lawful basis.

Marketing consent is separate from account, security, service, and payment communications.

A customer may withdraw marketing consent by contacting Quickwrks through the privacy contact details shown on quickwrks.com or by using the unsubscribe option provided in the marketing communication.

13. Customer rights

Subject to applicable law, a customer may have the right to:

- Request information about personal data processed through the Dashboard.
- Request correction, completion, or updating of inaccurate information.
- Request erasure of personal data that is no longer necessary for its stated purpose.
- Withdraw consent where processing is based on consent.
- Opt out of marketing communications.
- Raise a grievance regarding the handling of personal data.
- Request information about relevant data-sharing practices.

Requests may be submitted using the contact information published on quickwrks.com and in the Website footer.

Erasure or withdrawal requests may not result in immediate deletion where Quickwrks must retain information for legal compliance, accounting, security, dispute resolution, or contractual purposes.

14. Suspension or closure

Quickwrks may suspend or disable Dashboard access if:

- Credentials are compromised.
- The customer breaches the customer agreement.
- The Dashboard is misused.
- There is a security or legal risk.
- Payment obligations remain unpaid.
- The customer relationship ends.

Suspension or closure of Dashboard access does not automatically erase information that Quickwrks is legally or contractually required to retain.

15. Changes to this Policy

Quickwrks may update this Dashboard Privacy Policy to reflect changes in the Dashboard, services, data-processing practices, technology, or applicable law.

The updated Policy will be published or made available through the Dashboard or Website with a revised “Last Updated” date.

16. Contact

Quickwrks has not appointed a separate Data Protection Officer at this time.

For privacy requests, security concerns, credential issues, consent withdrawal, or grievances, please use the contact information displayed on quickwrks.com and in the Website footer.
